

Eliminates toxins

- BOWEL CLEANSE
- IMPROVES ENERGY

Colon cleanse, bowel cleanse, intestinal cleanse or intestinal therapy is a term referring to a procedure (or therapy) that, as a main goal, is to detoxify and clean the bowels and colon.

The typical problems of dirty intestine walls are: bad bacteria attacks the lining; parasites thrive; moulds and yeast (Candida) give off toxins; and food cannot be absorbed properly. A proper "bowel cleanse" can take from 3–4 weeks and even up to 12 weeks, depending on the severity of the condition. Vitamins, exercise and an awareness of diet help, but they do not stop the buildup of putrefying toxic matter in the colon. A purifying toxin-laden colon tract will contribute to a polluted body environment that makes disease much more likely to establish and spread. Liver, kidney, spleen, lungs, skin, sex organs, and the entire lymph system are affected. Health care professionals know true optimum health starts by having a clean inner body.

The build-up of toxic matter in the body occurs when people eat foods that contribute to the forming of mucoid matter. As most foods consumed daily are mucoid forming, as is air pollution, the development and retention of putrefying toxins is virtually universal. Excellent Purifiant is a unique blend of proven specialty preparations chosen for their cleansing-revitalizing and detoxifying qualities.

These seventeen essential products effectively remove toxins. This allows your body to achieve good health. Rejuvenation begins from the day you start.

Most people may get some results in one month. A real "bowel cleanse" usually is not just a single product, but is rather a procedure that may include the use of many different products, and, in many cases, it is beneficial to do days or weeks of fasting.

We recommend that you visit your health professional before performing any bowel cleanse or fast.
